To Texans interested in Behavioral Health issues:

The Texas Health and Human Services Commission is accepting applications for membership on the Behavioral Health Advisory Committee. The committee was formed to provide client and stakeholder input to the Texas Health and Human Services system regarding the allocation and adequacy of behavioral health services and programs within the state of Texas. The committee must seek input from the behavioral health community on these issues and produce formal recommendations to HHSC.

The HHS executive commissioner will appoint members to the committee to serve a term expiring Aug. 31, 2024. Currently, HHSC is seeking representatives to be selected from the following categories:

- Family members of a recipient of mental health or substance use disorder services
- Parents of a child with serious emotional disturbance
- Local government
- Managed care organizations
- Independent community behavioral health service providers
- Behavioral health advocates or a representative of a behavioral health advocacy organization
- People who have an interest in the behavioral health system and a working knowledge of behavioral health issues (including a person with lived experience, family member, advocate, provider, or other)

A committee member must regularly participate in committee meetings and may also have to participate in subcommittee meetings, projects and presentations. Committee meetings will be held in Austin about once every three months or at the call of the presiding officer. To the extent permitted by the current state budget, a committee member may be repaid for their travel expenses to and from meetings if money is available and in accordance with the HHSC Travel Policy.

HHSC will notify applicants if they have been selected to serve as a member of the Behavioral Health Advisory Committee.

In selecting members to serve on the committee, HHSC considers the applicants' qualifications, background and interest in serving on the committee. HHSC tries to choose committee members who represent the diversity of all Texans. For that reason, HHSC considers applicants' ethnicity, gender and geographic location.
