

The Institutional Review Board (IRB2) Approval Process

The Institutional Review Board (IRB2) reviews research according to federal regulations and provides oversight for any research using data on people whom community behavioral health services, community intellectual and/or developmental disorders services, state supported living centers and state hospitals serve. For more information and to visit the IRB2 web page, click here.

Use your mouse to roll over the numbered buttons to read notes:

TEXAS
Health and Human Services