

Hurricane Harvey Crisis Counseling and Other Services After Oct. 31, 2018

Get Crisis Counseling

Through the Texans Recovering Together program, Texas Health and Human Services partnered with providers in communities impacted by Hurricane Harvey to offer crisis counseling in homes and community settings.

Those free, anonymous and confidential services will no longer be available after Oct. 31, 2018.

But if you or someone you know is still experiencing stress-related effects from Hurricane Harvey, you can find counseling and other service providers by contacting 2-1-1. Or use the list below to find local providers by the counties they serve.
